Tension in New Orleans Racial Fight Increases

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The father of the 9-year-old boy who shattered the two-month boycott by white persons of an integrated New Orleans public school was looking for another job today determined not to submit to pressure.

"I'll find another job if I have to go to the other side of hell," said John H. Thompson, 33, during an exclusive interview with The Associated Press shortly before he was informed he had been fired from his $73-a-week job.

Thompson was told of his discharge when he reported for work at 3 p.m. Friday at the drug store where he was an assistant soda fountain manager.

J. C. Adams, the store manager, said he knew nothing about Thompson's son attending McDonough No. 9 school and that Thompson was ordered dismissed Thursday because "he didn't cut the mustard."

Thompson's son, Gregory, slipped unnoticed into the school Friday but was greeted by yells of "traitor" from women demonstrators when he left later accompanied by a federal marshal.

Gregory was the first white pupil to enter the three-story building in eastern New Orleans since a day or two after taken integration began last Nov. 14. Only three Negro girls have attended McDonough classes.

The presence of the youngster set the stage for new tension in troubled New Orleans. The tension is expected to increase if Thompson goes ahead with plans to re-enter another son, now ill, in McDonough Monday.

The Thompsons and their six children came to New Orleans from Alabama about a year ago and moved into the McDonough neighborhood in November. Gregory and Michael, 8, entered McDonough No. 19 and then were shifted with other white children to segregated schools in an adjoining county.

"I was raised as a segregationist," Thompson said, "but I've a mind of my own. I lived with Negroes in the service (Army) and I know that no black rubbed off on me. I know integration has got to come and there's no use trying to live like a hundred years ago."

In Atlanta, the Georgia Legislature moved swiftly to replace the state's rigid school segregation laws with a local control plan designed to hold integration to a minimum.

Action was completed — except for correction of a typographical error — on three bills and a proposed constitutional amendment prepared by Gov. Ernest Vandiver. The governor is expected to receive the proposals for signature the first of the week.

The measures represent a shift from the school closing philosophy of recent years and place emphasis instead on guaranteeing freedom of association.

The legislature acted shortly after two Negroes were admitted for the first time to the University of Georgia on federal court order. A federal court also has directed the Atlanta public schools start desegregation by September.

At Memphis, Tenn., John McFerrin, 36, unofficial "mayor of rent city" was asked to resign as chairman of the Fayette County Civic and Welfare League but he said the action was illegal.

McFerrin played an active part in the Negro voter registration drive that resulted in a Justice Department suit charging white leaders in nearby Fayette County with economic conspiracy against Negro voters.

The request that McFerrin resign was made by Scott Franklin, president of the league. But McFerrin said only the board of directors can name a new chairman.

In Brownsville, Tenn., Phillip H. Savage of Baltimore, a field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was convicted of threatening a breach of the peace and fined $50. He was arrested while interviewing Negroes lined up to register as voters. An appeal was planned.

Winds Slow Search for U. S. Plane

ARGENTIA, Nfld. (AP) — Winds of 50 to 75 miles an hour today hampered the air-sea search for a U.S. Military Air Transport plane carrying 23 persons that vanished over Canada's frozen Atlantic coastline.

Only a slim chance was held out for survivors if the plane crashed before dawn Thursday in the icy waters being whipped by flying spray in zero temperature.

A crewman on a Royal Canadian Air Force search plane was injured when the aircraft was battered by winds flying over the area.

Fourteen aircraft and a half dozen ships were ordered out today to scour the area where the four-engine C119 was last heard from only four minutes before it was due at the big American base at Argentia.

The plane's last contact was with a U.S. Navy patrol plane that sighted the C119 on its radar and talked with the crew. The Navy plane said that 35 minutes later it saw an explosion in the air about 27 miles northeast of Argentia, apparently above Newfoundland's Avalon Peninsula and near the city of St. John's, across the peninsula from Argentia. But search officials said the Navy pilot could have seen a flare.

The plane was carrying 13 passengers and 10 Navy crewmen from Morocco to Norfolk, Va., its home base. The transport had only enough fuel to stay in the air until midmorning Thursday.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Universal Match Corp. and Universal Controls Inc. today jointly announced that plans for a proposed merger have been cancelled due to certain legal and technical problems.

Will Use All Diplomacy Necessary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the Kennedy administration intends to use any and all instruments of diplomacy as necessary, including summit conferences.

Rusk told a news conference at the State Department — his first meeting with reporters as secretary — that he does not want to get the United States "frozen in any position" with respect to the kind of contacts it has with the Soviet Union or any other government.

The comment was made in connection with a statement Rusk issued four days ago saying he and President Kennedy would use diplomatic channels for consultation with other governments and those channels must be protected by secrecy.

Rusk noted that the statement had caused speculation that the Kennedy administration prefers to use ambassadors in talking with other governments rather than other means. Such other means include summit conferences and also special ambassadors.

Man Kills Neighbor Accidentally

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An 83-year-old man shot and killed a neighbor's 22-year-old son Thursday night, mistakenly thinking the victim was the prowler who had just slugged and robbed him.

Harry M. Howell fired a rifle shot that hit Victor Zlotnik as Zlotnik was getting into his car. "I've known Victor since his dad carried him around in his arms," Howell said upon learning whom he had killed. "I loved Victor as much as his father. I think I played with him when he was a boy. We were always close friends."

Howell, a retired draftsman, said he looked out his window about 9:30 p.m. and saw a man lurking. Howell opened the front door. The prowler, wearing a handkerchief mask and carrying a gun in each hand, forced his way in and clubbed Howell.

The intruder grabbed two wallets containing about $35 and fled. Howell, blood streaming down his face, picked up a rifle and went outside.

At that moment Zlotnik and his wife Olympia, 25, left the home of his father, Isadore, across the street.

"We'd been visiting my husband's parents," the victim's wife said later. "When we left it was dark and raining. We both ran to our car. My husband put me in the car. He was walking around the back to get in the other side when I thought I heard a shot. He fell down. I sounded the horn until his father and neighbors came."

The bullet hit Zlotnik behind the left ear. He died instantly.

Bill Would Slow New Race Tracks

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House today passed two administration bills designed to make it more difficult to get voter approval of a new dog or horse race track in any Arkansas county.

The vote was 68-19 on a bill which stipulates that approval of a dog track requires a majority of the qualified voters in a county, not merely a majority of those voting in the election. On a bill setting the same provision for horse tracks, the vote was 72-13.

The original dog racing law contained a similar provision but it was not as clearly stated and the Arkansas Supreme Court ruled that a simple majority of those voting was enough.

Clark County Rep. J. Hugh Lookadoo shepherded the bill, proposed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus, through the House.

The only speaker against the dog track bill was Garland County Rep. Eugene (Bud) Canada who said he felt it was undemocratic to require more than a majority of those voting to decide an election. There was no opposition to the horse track bill.

Hol Springs voters approved a dog track two years ago, but the company which proposed to build it became involved in a stockholders' squabble and the state racing commission revoked its franchise.

Lookadoo, in an answer to a question from Rep. Cecil Manse of Crittenden County, agreed that the principal purpose of the dog track bill was to make it difficult to establish a new dog track.

West Memphis has the state's only dog track.

Industrial Bill Ready for Faubus

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House today completed legislative action on a bill to revoke the state authority to buy bonds of local industrial development corporations and the First Arkansas Development Finance Corp.

The vote was 85-7 on a Senate bill which now will go to Gov. Orval E. Faubus for his signature.

Faubus recommended passage of such a bill in his inaugural address.

The bill authorizes the state to sell approximately $1,350,000 worth of local corporation bonds that it already has bought.

The state has not bought any bonds of PADFC, a privately organized non-profit company dedicated to promoting industrial development, but it was authorized under a 1957 law to buy up to $5 million worth of such bonds.

Faubus Aids Girls School Again

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus Thursday granted $2,910 from his $100,000 emergency fund for the State Girls Training School at Alexander.

U.S. Admiral to Deal With Rebel Captain

By SAUL PETT

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — A U.S. admiral was flying to Brazil today to set up a rendezvous with the Santa Maria amid reports the rebel commander of the captive liner had agreed to put into a Brazilian port when negotiations to release passengers are completed.

A U. S. Navy flier returning from a flight over the ship said the rebel Portuguese leader, Capt. Henry Galvao, had told him by radio that he was ready to bring the Santa Maria into "any selected Brazilian port."

The report by Cmdr. William Webster of Galvao's offer came on the heels of a U.S. promise of safe conduct for the rebel skipper to discharge his 588 captive passengers, including 42 Americans. All the passengers aboard the fugitive vessel were reported well.

Webster said Galvao had spoken to him in English and told him he had informed Adm. Robert L. Dennison, commander of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet, that he would circle a point on the equator at 35 degrees west longitude while negotiations continue.

The Navy disclosed that Rear Adm. Allen E. Smith Jr., commander of the Caribbean Sea Frontier, had been ordered from naval headquarters in San Juan to Belém, Brazil, "to be available to meet the Santa Maria if the ship decides to confer" with the Navy.

The orders to dispatch Smith came after a report that Galvao had sent a new radio message to Dennison, but the details were not disclosed.

A Navy public relations officer, James Harrington, told newsmen in San Juan, "you had better go to Belém. That's where the big story will break within 16 hours." He made the statement at about 8 p.m. Friday night.

A U.S. Navy spokesman said the Santa Maria had "drastically changed" course and apparently was veering away from the direct course it was taking toward west Africa.

Dennison gave Galvao assurances the Navy would take no action against the Santa Maria if he carried out his announced willingness to release the passengers, who were trapped when the self-styled revolutionists seized control of the cruise ship Sunday in the Caribbean.

Galvao, a former captain in the Portuguese army, and 70 armed followers boarded the luxury ship at stopovers in Venezuela and the Dutch West Indies. They proclaimed the liner "liberated" in their announced attempt to overthrow Portugal's strongman, Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

Dennison made the safe conduct offer in an exchange of messages with the Portuguese insurgent leader without making any political commitments.

The fleet commander said to protect the lives and property of the Americans aboard and because of humanitarian concern for all the passengers he would "take no action to interfere with his (Galvao's) entering or departing a port, or lying off a port, for the purpose of discharging the passengers."

Begins Survey to Rebuild Highway 29-S

The survey started today for the reconstruction of Highway 29 from the Lafayette County line to Hope. This 14.0 mile section of roadway will be widened, strengthened and resurfaced at an estimated cost of $369,500. It will be scheduled as a Federal Aid Project with the Bureau of Public Roads paying 50% of the cost.

This project was programmed in Jan. of 1960 by the Arkansas Highway Commission as a part of its projected three year program. The survey is the first step toward preparation of plans and specifications for reconstruction of this road.

IRA Slaying

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A police constable was killed today in an ambush blamed on the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

The IRA makes frequent forays across the border usually seeking to seize arms from police posts.

Grassy Lake, Only 20 Miles West of this City, Is an Entirely Different World

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Hope Star Feature Writer

One of the largest tracts of virgin express in the United States is found 20 miles west of Hope at the Hempstead County Hunting Club, more familiarly known as Grassy Lake. It is often visited by zoo curators to obtain unusual species of snakes and alligators. Science classes from the University of Arkansas make periodic trips to study animal and plant life there.

Several species of plant life and birds not found anywhere else in the state can be seen at Grassy Lake. Quite a few large alligators have been taken in the lake, and the area has a unusual distinction of being the location of all three known poisonous snakes in the U.S. — the rattlesnake, the cottonmouth moccasin and the coral snake.

Snakes aren't really a big problem, though, as the Snake Bird or Water Turkey inhabits this swampy lake, and snakes are its favorite food. On the subject of birds at Grassy, we mustn't overlook the fact that the lake is the nesting grounds of the Great American Egret which stands 30 inches high the Snowy Egret which grows to half that size, the Great Blue Heron, tallest of all, which attains a height of 36 inches, and the Little Blue Heron which grows to be 15 inches tall.

The egret plumes was once found on military's chaplain or as a choker and was one of the most valuable such items in the world. Not so anymore. The slaughter of these beauties became so great that Congress outlawed their destruction. Egret and heron plumes cannot be plucked in the usual way, but they are so deeply imbedded that the plucking of one plume is the equivalent of a critical wound. Therefore, the birds must die if their valuable feathers are obtained.

The lake at the Hempstead County Hunting Club is the only natural habitat and breeding place of the alligator in the state. The alligator is not as vicious as the African crocodile, but when provoked he is a good fighter. However, he is usually indifferent to man unless molested. One man killed an alligator 14 feet long in his cotton field. The old "gator" opened his mouth to fight and the man ran a shot gun in to keep it open. When the alligator closed his jaws, he bent the gun barrel as if it had been tin. No wonder the alligator has been dubbed the "Monarch of the Swamps."

One of the peculiar aspects of Grassy Lake is the absence of overhead or tree moss. But an estimated nine-tenths of the 2300 acre lake, one of the largest natural formed lakes in the state, has moss growing to the surface of the water. At floodtide the moss disappears as the roots hold the tops under the surface.

The virgin cypress and Tupelo gum, which represents 90 per cent of the timber in the lake, has an estimated value of one million dollars. The lake and its shoreline are as wild as at the beginning of time, except for the boat lanes. These have been somewhat cleared of moss, lily pads and under-rod.

Even so, an outboard motor or any other type with a lower-thrust keel propeller, or rudder, would become anchored and stalled within ten feet anywhere in the lake. The first small type "airboat" odd with its shallow draft hull and strange, fan-like, pusher-type propeller mounted on the stern out of the water, was developed by Herbert Dodson of Hope. It is particularly useful on Grassy Lake over cypress "knees" and through mossy water.

An unusual combination of the old and the new are found at the Hempstead County Hunting Club, where there is a mixture of virgin forest and the bellow of alligators with modern brick homes and the roar of electrical motors.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The starter at Churchill Downs for the famed Kentucky Derby has been named starter at Oaklawn Park for the 3-day horse race meeting which begins Feb. 13.

James Thompson, a veteran of 30 years in racing, was named Thursday by General Manager J. Sweeney Grant to replace Card Burns who was named a steward.

Uranium to France

PARIS (AP) — The United States has delivered 44 pounds of enriched uranium to France for use in an experimental submarine reactor, it was reported today.

Algeria Peace Hinges on East-West

ALGIERS (AP) — The success of future peace negotiations between the French and the Algerian rebels hinges on progress in relations between the West and the Communist bloc, highly placed French officials said today.

Contacts between French authorities and the rebel government in exile are "imminent," these officials said, but concrete results are not expected until there is a general relaxation of tension between the two power blocs.

The French government apparently believes that the rebels, who recently increased contacts with the Communist bloc, will be more inclined toward concessions if the intensity of the cold war subsides.

Talks with French officials in Algeria show increasing concern on their part to get negotiations started as soon as possible. The authorities in Algeria have received directives to do their utmost not to spoil the pre-negotiations atmosphere.

Strict orders have been issued to the army to avoid any repression of Muslim demonstrations sweeping the country.

Arkansans Seek Fish Hatchery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas members of congress agreed today to ask the government to enlarge one trout fish hatchery in north central Arkansas and to plan a new one.

Delegation members met with an Arkansas group to consider what might be done to provide more trout for stocking the White River and the North Fork of the White below Bull Shoals and Norfork dams.

Rep. James Trimble, D-Ark., said after the meeting, "We will ask funds to enlarge the capacity of the present hatchery below the Norfork Dam and also will ask money to plan a new hatchery below Bull Shoals Dam."

Meeting with the Arkansas member of Congress were Charles Adams and Henry Gray of the state Game and Fish Commission and representatives of the federal Fish and Wildlife Service.

Construction of the big dams has virtually eliminated bass from the streams below the dams. Water released by them is colder than water in which bass live.

A hatchery will build several years ago to stock trout—a cold water fish—in the stream below Norfork.

Enlargement of the Norfork hatchery would help solve the problem since the two streams are not far apart at that point and trout could be transported from the hatchery to the White.

Boycott at New Orleans Bends Some

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The 100 per cent white boycott of desegregated McDonough No. 19 school cracked slightly today with the entry of a white boy.

And the father of the white third-grader, told McDonough Principal John Stewart, another son, who is ill, will re-enter McDonough Monday.

A complete white boycott has been in effect at the school since shortly after it was integrated under federal court order Nov. 14.

Dr. James F. Redmond, superintendent of Orleans Parish (county) schools, announced the white child's attendance today, but said he did not have his identity.

He said the child's father told Stewart his son had been attending classes in adjoining St. Bernard Parish, where most of the white students went to school after the boycott.

Redmond said the boy's father said he was "tired of seeing his boy go over the same work he did last year."

Redmond said there were no incidents at the McDonough school, which housed 500 whites before it was integrated.

6 Americans to Be Tried by Castro

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP) — Six Americans charged with trying to join anti-Castro rebels were to go on trial today before a military tribunal in ancient La Cabana fortress. They faced death at the execution wall.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime, which by unofficial count already has shot 589 persons, including three Americans, said the six sailed from Marathon Key, Fla., and were captured entering Havana harbor Jan. 7.

They are George R. Beck, 24, of Norton, Mass.; "Tommy" L. Baker, 25, of Durham, N.C.; Donald Joe Green, 28, of Clover, S.C.; James E. Bean, 34, of Cedar Falls, N.C.; Alfred Eugene Gibson, 32, of Durham, N.C.; and Leonard Louis Schmidt, 21, of Chicago.

The Americans were charged with "crimes against the security of the state," a general accusation covering conspiracy—a crime punishable with death by firing squad.

Conseller Gilbert De Dardel of the Swiss Embassy, which is caring for U.S. interests in Cuba, said he had been advised the Cuban prosecutor would ask for the death penalty.

Two veteran Cuban lawyers, Amilcar Pacheco and Luis Raul Pielais, were retained to defend the six.

The Castro regime's continuing propaganda barrage against insurgents in the south-central mountains of Cuba suggested the government is preparing a new all-out assault on the counter-revolutionary bastion.

Reports from Miami that two top members of Castro's revolutionary movement had fled Cuba swept through Havana. But there was no official comment on the reports that Maj. Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo and Maj. Armando Fletes were among 19 Cubans who landed in Florida.

Another deserter of the revolution, an American who once commanded a firing squad for Castro, was arrested in New York and faces execution if he is returned to Cuba. He is Herman F. Marks, 38, a former captain in Castro's army now listed as a deserter.

Attacker of JFK Is Hospitalized

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Richard Pavlick, 71, of Delmont, N.J., accused of plotting to blow up President Kennedy at Palm Beach last December, was ordered committed to a mental hospital today.

U.S. Dist. Judge Emmett C. Choate directed that Pavlick, a former postal worker, be hospitalized at a federal facility in Springfield, Mo., until he is ruled competent to stand trial.

The husky, white-haired Pavlick denied in court that he threatened Kennedy.

"I have never threatened anybody," he told Judge Choate. "I couldn't destroy anything. I don't even hunt or fish."

Pavlick said he told Secret Service questioners he had plotted to kill Kennedy "because they wanted that kind of a story. I was not physically able to stand long questioning which they subjected me to after my arrest on a trumped-up traffic charge."

Arresting officers said they found dynamite and detonators in Pavlick's belongings after he was taken into custody. At the time they quoted him as saying he planned to blow up Kennedy, because he felt Kennedy's money had bought his election.

Judge Choate declined to rule on motions by Pavlick's counsel to dismiss charges on grounds they accused Pavlick of threatening the president-elect, although he was not technically president-elect until the Electoral College formally made him so. The judge said the filing should be deferred until Pavlick is competent to stand trial.

Fraternity Penalty Is Censured

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A resolution censuring the University of Arkansas for suspending Kappa Sigma fraternity in connection with alleged stealing of test papers at the university was introduced today in the Arkansas House.

The proposal was referred to the Resolution Committee. The author was Putaski County Rep. Glenn Walthers. Walthers said he is not a Kappa Sigma member. The resolution called the suspension of an entire fraternity "because of the action of a few" a violation "of the basic principles on which this country has been built."

Chanel, as Usual in Paris Show

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—It was Chanel-as-usual, with a dash of mannish detail added, at the last major fashion opening of the spring season this afternoon.

Indeed, if 70-year-old Madame Coco Chanel ever changed her style, Parisians would be as surprised as if the Eiffel Tower should vanish.

As fashion fads are not in her line, Chanel has turned out more slim, trim suits with easy skirts and braid piping. She sweetens some of them with pleated or shirred chiffon or silk blouses. New for her are loose bolero jackets that let the blouse show at the waistline. One was zipped up the back.

Military pockets, mannish ties and shirt-collared blouses showing above collarless jackets added a masculine note.

Gold chain belts, double-looped, dangle a gold bangle at the waist line. Jackets often have stack pockets, one above the other.

Dresses, neatly belted at the natural waist, may be all-over pleated shirtwaists, with the pleats sewed flat to midship and then let out to knee-covering hems. Others are pleated just in front. A navy dress was trimmed with gold braid slotted with velvet ribbon. An off-white fleecy wool coat was collared, hemmed, cuffed and bordered with dark mink.

U. S. Seeks to Free 588 Passengers

By SAUL PETT

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—The U. S. Navy appealed again Thursday night to the rebel commander of the Santa Maria to free the captive liner's 588 passengers on this side of the Atlantic and offered to remove them at sea off the Brazilian port of Belem.

Adm. Robert L. Dennison, commander of the U. S. Atlantic Fleet, broadcast his appeal as the cruise ship commanded by enemies of Portugal's dictator, Antonio de Oliveira Salazar still sped toward West Africa but along a southeasterly course paralleling the northeast coast of Brazil. The Santa Maria Thursday night was 750 miles northeast of Belem.

Dennison called on the rebel leader, Henrique M. Galvao, to change his course and proceed toward Belem, at the mouth of the Amazon River, to discharge the liner's passengers. Among them are 42 Americans.

"Am sure you agree it best (to) accomplish transfer (of passengers) as soon as possible on this side of Atlantic," Dennison said. "If this agreeable to you will have U. S. Navy ship meet you off port to assist in transfer of passengers if necessary."

The U. S. task force of four destroyers and 18 planes chasing the runaway cruise ship are under direct orders from President Kennedy not to force a boarding of the 20,506-ton liner even though Salazar has denounced Galvao and his men as pirates.

Dennison's message came after Galvao, demanding to be treated as a "politician fighting for the freedom of this country," had offered to meet with U. S. representatives aboard his captured ship in due time.

A shadowing U. S. naval plane reported the Santa Maria at 5 degrees 30 minutes north latitude, 37 degrees 45 minutes west longitude and sailing a course of 120 degrees—in the direction of Africa—shortly before Dennison sent his urgent plea.

The U. S. destroyer Wilson set off immediately from the Caribbean for Belem in the hope that Galvao would accept the American proposal. The Wilson is due to reach the mouth of the Amazon Sunday.

Galvao told the U. S. Navy pilot who first located him Wednesday that he was bound for Angola, a Portuguese colony on the southwest African coast. It was believed that he and his band of 70 who seized the ship hoped to set off an uprising in Angola against the Salazar regime.

There was speculation Galvao might try to land the passengers in Dakar, capital of Senegal; Guinea or Ghana, where the newly independent governments could be expected to aid him against the Portuguese colonial administration.

Couple Have Come to a Crossroads

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:
My husband and I have been married 13 years, nine of which I told him he could have. We have two sons, 12 and 9, who love us as much as we love them.

I used to belong to clubs and have many friends but my husband wanted a picture-book neat house so I gave these up to make a home. I am an epileptic so it hasn't been easy and when the boys were small, the house didn't always shine as it should.

Now my husband wants a divorce. He says he loves another woman. I told him he could have a divorce till the boys are through school. This woman says she'll wait. My husband stays out till 1:30 a. m. I try to act as if nothing were wrong but the boys notice the difference. Am I doing wrong by trying to bring them up in a broken home? —Unhappy Wife

Dear Unhappy Wife: From observation I find that children reared in a broken home often suffer more than the warring parents. If you can't make a go of it, divorce (religion permitting), is the lesser of two evils. However, before you take this drastic step, be sure to explore all possibilities for a reconciliation.

Your only salvation is to depersonalize this situation. Write the pros on one sheet of paper, the cons on the other. Study the advantages and disadvantages then, whether your husband likes it or not, tell him that for the sake of the children, he must weigh the consequences of either step with you. After all, marriage is a partnership even if he isn't living up to his part at the moment.

Dear Helen:
I am 18 and my boy friend 21. We plan to marry this year. He buys me expensive gifts, takes me everywhere and speaks continually of how wonderful our life will be together.

But he has many friends whom I feel he cares for as much as me. If we have a disagreement (I am very sensitive), he seems to enjoy himself no end with his men friends.

My home life is unhappy. My father drinks yet he loved my mother when they married and didn't drink then. This makes me wonder if a girl can ever be sure of happiness in marriage, and will I ever be sure of my boy friend's need for me? —B.J.D.

Dear B.J.D.: We can't be certain of anything in this life but one thing is for sure—life is largely what we make it. Be thankful for your fiancé's generosity and appreciation of you and his friends. Don't be a wet blanket. There are enough long faces in the world without pulling one yourself. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Are You Sensitive?"

Dear Helen:
When we moved this summer I was very lonely, after having been forced by our move to break with my steady. Soon after we arrived I met a boy who seemed real nice. I let him go pretty far. Ever since he cuts me. The same thing happened to my girl friend. Why must boys be so cruel?

As a consequence my girl friend and I can't see any use in living. We would just as soon kill ourselves. Please print this so other girls may learn a lesson from those who learned the hard way. —Two Lonely 15-year-olds

Dear Lonely Ones: I'm ashamed for you, not because of what you did but for even thinking of terminating a thing so precious as the life which God has given you. Put those conceited young curs out of your mind. Each day is a new beginning. Make the most of yours!

Send your problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "The Petting Problem."

Goldwater Bill to Aid Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says he will introduce a bill to turn back to the people three or four billion dollars in tax money to be used locally to improve schools.

He hasn't worked out the details, Goldwater said in a television debate on CBS "Face the Nation" with Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., but there would be no requirement that the returned tax money must be used for education.

He said it was his hope that a taxpayer, having received for example a $100 tax rebate, might be more inclined to vote for local school bond issues.

Goldwater, a leading GOP conservative, and McCarthy, a Democratic liberal, debated the question "Does a Big Federal Government Threaten our Freedom?" It was held in the old Supreme Court chamber in the Capitol without audience or a panel of questioners.

The storm broke out in Texas and Oklahoma earlier this week and spread snow, sleet and icy rain across most of the Southland before speeding northward along the Atlantic Coast. Only Florida escaped the cold, wet weather.

The violent weather, which closed hundreds of schools, curtailed highway and air travel and disrupted electric service, was blamed for at least 48 deaths. Most of the fatalities were in traffic accidents on ice-slicked highways, exposure and heart attacks.

Texas alone counted 17 storm-related deaths. There were 12 in West Virginia; 6 in Indiana; 5 in Louisiana; 3 in Georgia; 2 in South Carolina and 1 each in Tennessee, Oklahoma and Washington, D.C.

Snow depth up to a half foot fell in Maryland, and nearly that amount piled up on top of last week's heavy snow in many areas. The falls, however, were not as heavy as last week's storm which dumped more than 1½ feet of snow in parts of Pennsylvania.

The snow diminished considerably during the night from Pennsylvania northward into New England after an earlier forecast of up to 8 inches in southern New England and the Middle Atlantic States. However, the snow continued during the morning in the Great Lakes region and southeastward into the Ohio Valley and the Middle Atlantic coastal states.

Meanwhile, the frigid weather which has numbed northern sections of the Midwest and Northeast for more than a week showed only slight moderation. Below zero readings again were reported in the northern and central plains and eastward into the upper and middle Mississippi Valley and northern Maine.

Schools were closed through much of the Southern storm belt Thursday and police closed many roads in the Carolinas, Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama, Arkansas and Virginia. Most schools remained closed in the Washington, D.C. area, hit by a six-inch snowfall, and in 60 of the 97 counties in Virginia.

Four inches of snow fell in New York and some jet flights were diverted from Idlewild Airport to as far away as Montreal.

Man Quilty of Robbing Banks

MEMPHIS (AP)—Bert L. Scott, 27-year-old former minister, pleaded guilty today to robbing three banks and was sentenced to 45 years in prison.

Scott, onetime preacher at a non-denominational church here, showed no emotion as sentence was imposed by a federal judge.

Scott admitted getting more than $17,000 in the holdup of banks at Bells, Tenn., and Biallia and Coldwater, Miss.

He said he robbed the Bells Bank at pistol-point last July 14 "because I wanted to be sent to jail to think things over." Then he said he decided: "As long as I'm going to be a bank robber, I might as well be a good one."

torso murder of her 73-year-old husband.

Mrs. MacDonald switched defense attorneys unexpectedly before the hearing was scheduled to have started. The new defense counsel, Sam Monk Zelden of New Orleans, got a delay until 1 p. m. today.

Nine Arkansas authorities and witnesses drove through the snow ice to be here for the hearing.

MacDonald and his wife, 49, were living on a farm near Mena, Ark. He disappeared last month and parts of his body were found in the Mena area.

Mrs. MacDonald was arrested in Covington later when authorities discovered more pieces of the body in the back of a station wagon she was driving.

South, East Crippled by Snowstorm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A vast snow and ice storm dealt crippling blows to the South and East today as winter's longest stretch of severe weather held fast over most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation.

The wide belt of snow extended from northern North Carolina into New England and westward into Illinois and the Great Lakes region.

The storm broke out in Texas and Oklahoma earlier this week and spread snow, sleet and icy rain across most of the Southland before speeding northward along the Atlantic Coast. Only Florida escaped the cold, wet weather.

The violent weather, which closed hundreds of schools, curtailed highway and air travel and disrupted electric service, was blamed for at least 48 deaths. Most of the fatalities were in traffic accidents on ice-slicked highways, exposure and heart attacks.

Holdup Men Get Stage Show Gato
NEW YORK (AP) — Two gunmen struck a cacophonous note at the musical "The Sound of Music" Thursday night by making off with the $40,000 payroll just before curtain time. The bandits strided into the backstage office at the Lam-Pontane Theatre and ordered the manager to hand over the pay envelopes. The gunmen then fled. The cast was unaware of the holdup and the show went on as usual.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE

By Henry Farrell

THE STORY: Blanche Hudson feels trapped. Crippled in a car wreck years ago, she has been living with her sister, the former child star Baby Jane, and now it has become apparent that Jane is unbalanced and hates Blanche.

Chapter VI

Jane carried the tray into the room and put it down on the desk with a deliberate abruptness, so as to produce a small angry clattering of china and silver. Immediately, she turned and started out again, but Blanche, moving forward held out a hand to detain her.

"Jane..." Even to herself her voice sounded thin and unnatural. "Jane, I wasn't ringing for lunch — thank you for bringing it — but there's something I want to discuss with you."

At the doorway Jane turned and looked back, her eyes dull now and unseeing.

"Jane, I'm afraid I've had some bad news. There have been certain reverses lately — financial reverses, you understand, and — according to Bert Hanley we're going to have to give up this house. I've already —" She paused, aware of a subtle quickening in Jane's attitude. "I should have told you sooner, I know that, but Bert kept thinking that things might change and —"

"When did you talk to Bert Hanley?"

"Well, we didn't talk on the phone," Blanche fumbled. "He wrote me a letter, actually. But that doesn't make any difference."

Again Jane shook her head. "He didn't write any letter, either."

Wednesday

Blanche reached out to the tray, picked up the cloth and pulled it away. Instantly her hand froze in mid-air. Her eyes stared from a face white with shock. She darted a hand to her mouth, to stifle the scream that was already rising in her throat.

It seemed ages that she sat there staring at the dreadful thing on the plate, at the bird stiff with death that lay there before her, returning her gaze of horror from empty eye sockets.

It had been a small bird, a sparrow or robin and it had lain so long in death that it had gone even beyond the state of putrefaction. All that remained, really, were a few matted feathers, some of the thin parchment like skin and the delicate white bones. This, with macabre deliberation, had been placed at the center of a carefully arranged ring of lettuce, and upon the back of the corpse had been obscenely spattered a thick dab of mayonnaise.

THE MAIN LINE

Here are two tracks, — two roads, — two ways to go. From this point, apparently, both lines lead to coveted destinations. True, they point in different directions and their terminals are drastically different. The Great Teacher once warned, "There is a way that seemeth right unto a man, but the ends thereof are the ways of death." Brother, you can't reach Heaven going in opposite directions. You've got to get on the main line and keep on going if you expect to enter by the narrow gate. We can move to the right or to the left — to life eternal or to certain death... which way will ye take? Your church offers valuable help in determining the main line. For he said, "The path of the just is as a drawing light that shineth more and more into the perfect day."

The Churches of This Community, Are the Only Institutions Which Have as Their Main Function, the Transforming of Human Lives
They Are the Sign Boards Pointing the Way to God.

Sponsors of these messages urge faithful church support. Through this series of pages the appeal is for all men to stand up and be counted . . . to combat Communism on all front . . . to be faithful to God.

Our Ministers Are God's Servants Who Call the Signals Against the Organized Forces of Evil. They Invite You to Enlist On the Side For God. . . to Come to Church.
